Bloom Where You Are Planted

DECEMBER 2019

Finding peace and serenity wherever life takes you

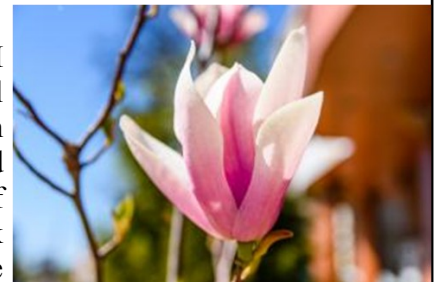

At seven and a half years sober I moved from the comfortable rural setting in which I sobered up to suburban Detroit. AA in Leelanau County, in northern Michigan some 200 miles from my new home, had saved my life. The friends I made there and the fellowship fostered by the members of my groups were central to my sobriety. The thought of leaving the surety of my meetings and the regular gatherings and social activities which had become my world was intimidating, but as I had come back to life as a result of staying sober, my life had evolved and expanded in wonderful ways I could not have envisioned. I knew that I owed my life to AA and sobriety, so when I decided to move, maintaining my sobriety had to be my number one priority.

Even though I knew this fact intellectually, taking actions to make it happen was far harder than staying with what had become familiar and comfortable. I got a meeting guide for AA in southeast Michigan and began highlighting meetings that sounded promising. Shortly after the physical busy-ness of moving, I began fishing these different meetings for ones which would feed me. They were very different than what I was used to. In the small communities where I got sober, a meeting of more than 20 people is a large group. The format is universally a single table. Many of the meetings I found near my new home were huge and broken up into multiple tables. Even when I sat at a table with solid sharing, the noise of the surrounding tables distracted me. They also had their own twists which were peculiar to me.

Before I left I was given the phone number of an acquaintance I had met on several occasions. He had sobered up in Leelanau, but had moved on well before I staggered in. I had met him at some of the AA parties he had returned to, and had listened to him give an open talk to my home group. Coincidentally, he had moved to the area I was heading to some six months before I moved there. Even though I had met him, knew many of the people he got sober with, and knew the importance of reaching out to maintain my sobriety, picking up the 300-pound phone was still intimidating to me. As an alcoholic I don't like to ask for help. That fact almost killed me. And as someone with seven and a half years of quality sobriety (in my eyes) and possibly lacking humility (in everyone else's), reaching out like a newcomer was a huge challenge. Fortunately I valued my life enough that after a couple weeks of floundering around meetings that "didn't work for me," I picked up the phone and called him to find out what meetings he was going to. He had another friend whom I had met up north on several occasions who happened to be in town and the three of us met for dinner and talk about sobriety. For the first time since my move I felt my feet back on solid ground.

Over the next weeks I attended several meetings with him which he had found since moving. One of them was a Big Book Study where everybody sat in one large circle and there was a lot of quality sobriety present. It was a comfortable format for me, was the first meeting to which I returned since I began fishing after my move and became my home group. Over the next months I found other meetings in which I felt at

Twelve Steps of Sponsorship

1. I will not help you to stay and wallow in limbo.
2. I will help you to grow, to become more productive, by your definition.
3. I will help you become more autonomous, more loving of yourself, more excited, less sensitive, more free to become the authority for your own living.
4. I cannot give you dreams or "fix you up" simply because I cannot.
5. I cannot give you growth, or grow for you. You must grow for yourself by facing reality, grim as it may be at times.
6. I cannot take away your loneliness or your pain.
7. I cannot sense your world for you, evaluate your goals for you, tell you what is best for your world; because you have your own world in which you must live.
8. I cannot convince you of the necessity to make the vital decision of choosing the frightening uncertainty of growing over the safe misery of remaining static.
9. I want to be with you and know you as a rich and growing friend; yet I cannot get close to you when you choose not to grow.
10. When I begin to care for you out of pity or when I begin to lose faith in you, then I am inhibiting both for you and for me.
11. You must know and understand my help is conditional. I will be with you and "hang in there" with you so long as I continue to get even the slightest hint that you are still trying to grow.
12. If you can accept this, then perhaps we can help each other to become what Higher Power meant us to be, mature adults, leaving childishness forever to the little children of the world.

home and established a pattern of attendance that made me comfortable in my own skin again.

Even as a recovering alcoholic I can do all the readings, prayers and meditation that contribute to and feed my sobriety, but without the connection of one alcoholic sharing with another at face to face meetings I am on shaky ground. I need people in my life to whom I can be accountable and who will be there for me at a moments notice when I need help. Even knowing the importance of this fact, it was still a challenge to put it into practice. However, over the following months as I developed new friendships in the meetings I started to attend regularly, I became as comfortable in my sobriety here as I had been before the move. Several months after I arrived I received a phone call from a friend I had met asking me to attend an annual men's retreat. It was a wonderful weekend devoted to sobriety, fellowship, and working the steps. Just recently I attended it for the fourth time.

Back home in Leelanau my sober life had been enhanced by the friendships and the fellowship developed through many parties and gatherings throughout the year outside of the regular meetings. Here the fellowship is different, but equally fulfilling when I make the effort to seek it out. My acquaintance from up north to whom I finally reached out has "frequent but random" campfire meetings in his backyard which I enjoy. I have also joined a group of men with quality sobriety who meet each week for breakfast and fellowship outside of the meeting structure. Anniversary meetings down here are different than the celebrations I was used to, but I have enjoyed attending them as well.

Back when I was drinking, I was certain that I would be plucked from my miserable life and inserted into some wonderful, self-indulgent existence. I was admonished to "Bloom Where You Are Planted," but I dismissed that as too much work for too little return. After having sobered up and gaining some perspective in the sense that I discovered I was not the center of the universe, I did indeed bloom where I was planted. Now having moved on from those roots and taken the uncomfortable action necessary, I have friends and resources in many more places I never dreamed of being. As life has unfolded and the promises have come true over and over for me, I can now be comfortable in my own skin and have peace and serenity not only where I learned to live, but wherever life takes me. And if I have not yet bloomed as fully here as I had there, at least my roots have taken hold enough so that a strong wind won't topple me. It is an amazing journey. I have to remember that if I do the work I learned at home, I don't have to be afraid to follow wherever God leads me.

Cindy was staggering down the road and thumbing a ride.

A kind woman stopped her car.

Cindy got in, stinking of gin.

After they'd been riding a minute or two, Cindy noticed a brown bag full of booze on the front seat.

"What's in the bag?", she asked.

"it's a bottle of wine, I got it for my husband," the driver replied.

Cindy sat silent for another minute, then said, "Good trade."

12 TRADITION AFFIRMATIONS

"The Twelve Traditions ensure the unity of the Fellowship. The "12 Traditions" of Alcoholics Anonymous are, we A.A.'s believe, the best answers that our experience has yet given to those ever-urgent questions, "How can A.A. best function?" and, "How can A.A. best stay whole and so survive?" Big Book Appendix I

I've found that just as applying the 12 Steps in, as the Big Book says, "A much more important demonstration of our principles lies before us in our respective homes, occupations and affairs." (BB page 19) I've found that by applying the 12 Traditions in these areas to be one of the greatest demonstrations of spiritual principles and miracles in my life! I strongly advise anyone who has worked the 12 Steps to go to the next level of their Spiritual development by applying the 12 Traditions.

Here are 12 affirmations that I try to keep in mind as the guiding spiritual principle behind each Tradition:

Tradition One Affirmation- Let me remember that my fulfillment, love, joy and forgiveness come through my sharing and joining with others in our common welfare.

Tradition Two Affirmation- Let me remember that God, as we understand Him,, as we understand Him, is our only True Source, that we are His children, His agents, His individual expressions, and that we have come together for His purpose. Even now He is guiding and directing us.

Tradition Three Affirmation- Let me remember that out of enlightened self-interest I want and I choose to share all I can with whomever He brings.

Tradition Four Affirmation- Let me remember that the one (s) I am sharing with and I must come to our own decisions or agreements but not at anyone else's expense.

Tradition Five Affirmation- Let me remember that as an individual God, as we understand Him, created, we all have a special message to share. Joined with those we are drawn to, the sharing of this message is our primary purpose.

Tradition Six Affirmation- Let me remember that we ought never try to share our special message with those for whom it is not intended nor endorse or give our power or prestige to a cause we have no business in, since doing so may divert us from our primary purpose.

Tradition Seven Affirmation- Let me remember that as God's, as we understand Him, agents we are able to be fully Self-supporting - by His Divine Grace we can be free of outside interference. He will give us all we need to do His Will.

Tradition Eight Affirmation- Let me remember that we were freely given our special gifts so we must share them freely, not as a professional.

Tradition Nine Affirmation- Let me remember that we need to keep an open-mind for His guidance, His flow of love and wisdom, avoiding the closed-mindedness of too many rigid rules or over organization.

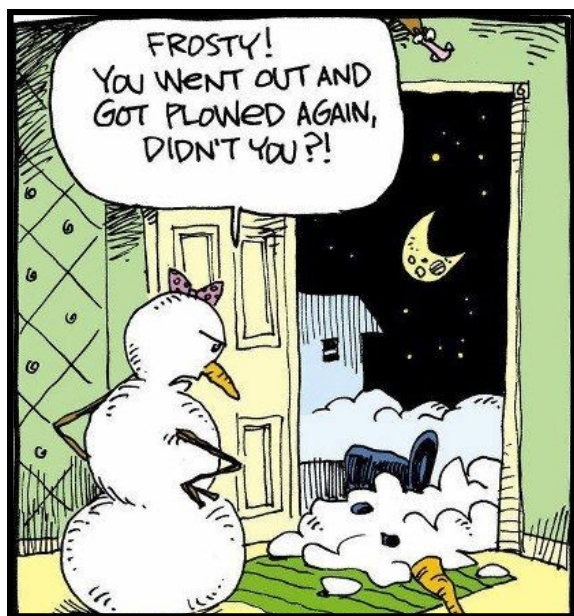

Tradition Ten Affirmation- Let me remember that we need to stay focused on our primary purpose, avoiding useless arguments on outside issues.

Tradition Eleven Affirmation- Let me remember that we must walk the talk. Our willingness to be His agent will attract what or whom we need to do His Will. Humility goes hand in hand with this willingness.

Tradition Twelve Affirmation- Let me remember that we need to credit the results to Him - to take off our mask and practice His Principles in all of our affairs.
